THE "OCCASIONAL PAPER."

FROM THE REV. E. CRIDGE TO THE BISHOP OF COLUMBIA.

The Parsonage, October 15th, 1860.

My DEAR LORD,

You will pardon me for writing just a line on a subject which, under the circumstances of our infant colony, I feel to be of considerable importance. I allude to a passage in an "Occasional Paper" attributing to our American brethren certain political designs in connection with the last election.

This statement has, I am given to understand, given displeasure to that body; and as I feel sure that, whatever may have been the circumstances under which it was written or published, it does not represent the present opinions of your lordship, I think a word of explanation is due to a class of persons who as a body have greatly aided in advancing the material interests of the colony, and who from the first have been associated with the British portion of the community in various objects of common interest.

As I have witnessed from the beginning the progress of events which have brought and detained among us so many of our American brethren, and have always personally received from them the utmost courtesy; and as, on the other hand, from the connexion which it is my unfeigned pleasure to hold with you as my Bishop, I have had many opportunities of knowing your sincere good-will towards that respected class of our townsmen; I think I may be excused for endeavoring to put myself in the position of becoming the medium of an explanation, which, when made, will, I feel confident, restore that cordiality of feeling which by the above cause seems to have been somewhat interrupted.

Believe me, my dear Lord,

Yours very faithfully,

EDWARD CRIDGE.

FROM THE BISHOP OF COLUMBIA TO THE REV. E. CRIDGE.

My DEAR MR. CRIDGE,

I assure you it is with sincere regret I learn that annoyance has been felt by my American brethren. Private letters are not always so carefully worded as those intended for the public, and extracts, disconnected from other parts of a correspondence, do not fairly represent the mind of the writer, and are likely to be misunderstood.

Such is the case in the present instance. The letters were not written for publication, nor in the exact shape in which they appear; the extracts, however, have been made with the best intentions, and by a zealous friend of these colonies.

You say pain is felt at the imputation of political designs. The object of the allusion to the election was to shew the action of the colored people, in whom great interest is taken in England, who voted against the party which seemed most to embody the sentiments, and enjoy the sympathy of the Americans; and gave their support to the opposite party, which they seemed to regard as the exponent of English principles; and thus by their votes contributed to the victory of the latter. It was not intended to state that American citizens voted, or to insinuate that there were not in the ranks of the Reformers many loyal Englishmen.

Of course, the allusion to "annexation" was a mere pleasantry, which, in a letter familiarly written, conveyed no more serious intention than do remarks often made in conversation with our Republican brethren in friendly reference to their enterprising love of territory.

I am told the picture of society in some parts of the adjoining continent is overdrawn. My information was derived from what I ascertained to be good authority. Still, views in such matters are shaded by the opinions and feeling of the observer, and I also may have been too ready to accept the statement from being previously aware of the widespread infidelity which is lamented by thoughtful Americans.

Our friends cannot expect to be free from criticism. In the working of their institutions we take the deepest interest, that we may copy their many good things, and carefully guard ourselves against evils seen and deprecated by true-hearted and philanthropic men among themselves.

No one is more open to appreciate the excellent qualities of my American neighbors than myself. I have had occasion in correspondence to allude to that noble spirit of enterprise for which we are so largely indebted in these colonies; and also gratefully to acknowledge the kind and generous open-heartedness which, in San Francisco and elsewhere, my clergy and myself have experienced from them.

It was this sentiment of respect and regard, and my earnest desire to draw more closely the tie of kindred origin and tongue, that made it a delight to receive and welcome to my dwelling several American friends, who had come over to help us at the recent consecration of St. John's Church.

While upon the subject of the "Occasional Paper," I may allude, though you have not named it, to a paragraph which has been commented upon,—the part taken by the Roman Catholic Bishop in the election. I do not believe the extract is correctly made, and I have written to Bishop Demers regretting the publication of such an imputation.

The other incident is a fact, trivial indeed in itself, but noticeable on my first arrival as an index of feeling. I trust and believe it was an exceptional case, and is far from indicating the feelings of Roman Catholics towards their Protestant brethren here.

I am not without hope that, though the "Occasional Paper" has caused some irritation to be regretted, yet the grand object in view will not be lost sight of; and that the desire of the best good of these colonies therein manifested, and the plans set forth, may excite the interest, and stir up the energies of some, who would not otherwise be moved, to labor in their respective spheres for the common good and to advance the glory of God.

Believe me, my dear Mr. CRIDGE,

Sincerely yours,

G. COLUMBIA.

Victoria, Oct. 16th, 1860.

FROM THE BISHOP OF COLUMBIA TO BISHOP DEMERS.

RIGHT REV. AND DEAR SIR,

For my own satisfaction, and in justice to you, I offer a word of explanation and regret in reference to an extract introduced into print from a private letter of mine.

Though persons, having good objects in view, may interchange opinions and impressions upon society and public characters, without doing or intending injury, no one has a right to publish reflections impugning the motives, and calculated to wound needlessly the feelings of another.

Two months ago I received the "Paper" in which was such a reflection attributing an unworthy motive to your conduct on a public occasion.

I at once wrote to desire its withdrawal and to express my sorrow at the insertion of that and other extracts, which, taken out of connection with other statements, did not fairly represent the mind of the writer, and were calculated to hurt the feelings of others.

My first desire at the time was to write and tell you of this. Such a course, however, seemed likely only to increase publicity. But now that others have given the Paper circulation, I feel it due to you as well as to myself to make this communication. I trust you will accept it as an assurance that the imputation was published without my knowledge; that I did what I could to counteract it; and that my earnest desire is that nothing lower than the standard of the Charity of the Gospel should rule amongst us, however widely differing on points of essential belief.

I remain, Right Rev. and Dear Sir,

Your obedient Servant,

G. COLUMBIA.

Victoria, Oct. 13th, 1860.

The Right Rev. Bishop Demers.

Wednesday Morning, October 24, 1860.

The Assembly at Loggerheads with the Council.

A few days ago the Council sent down to the Assembly the Liquor License Bill passed by the Assembly, with an amendment which is equivalent to the imposition of a tax. A general flare-up took place at once in the Lower House at the encroachment of the Upper House upon what was held to be the sole and undisputed prerogative of the Assembly. But one opinion was expressed on both sides of the House; and that a determined opposition to the unwarrantable amendment of the Council. On Monday, Mr. Waddington again renewed the subject, when the Speaker declared that the only power which the Upper House could oppose to the passage of a revenue bill was to veto it.

To understand thoroughly the merits of the question, we here present the state of the Liquor License Law, and the new Liquor License Bill which the Council has amended. They are as follows:

LIQUOR LICENSE LAW.
Wholesale License.	£25 00
Retail " "	120 00
Wine " (Eating Houses).	12 10
Beer " "	12 10

NEW LIQUOR LICENSE BILL AS SENT TO THE COUNCIL.

Wholesale License.	£25 00
Retail " "	90 00
Wines and Beer license (all fermented liquors)	25 00

From this statement it will be perceived that the only difference between the existing law and the new bill is a reduction of £30 on the retail license, and the wine and beer licenses were consolidated. The advantage claimed for the latter is, that formerly under a wine license malt liquors were sold; and under a beer license, wines were sold. Thus by consolidating the two, the revenue could not be evaded. When this bill was sent to the Council, that close communion institution refused to pass it in the state it was sent up to them, but amended it, by adding that "fermented liquors should mean wines only."

The immediate consequence to the trade was that retail liquor dealers had to pay their licenses at the old rate—£30, instead of paying £22 10s. Thus they lost £7 10s., or $37 50, on the quarterly instalment. For this they have only to thank the Council. But the Upper House—pardon the expression, if Star Chamber or Holy Inquisition is more suitable—were not satisfied by adding $37 50 to general retailers, they must amend the bill so that "fermented liquors" meant wine. The results are, that eating houses who wish to sell wine, ale and porter, would have to pay £25 for a wine license, and then an additional £12 10s. for a beer license. Thus the amendment of the Council, if concurred in by the Assembly, would be equivalent to a tax of £12 10s. on all eating houses, and £12 10s. more than the Assembly contemplated. The unwarrantable conduct of the Council, therefore, by refusing to pass the bill without amendment, inflicted a temporary tax of $37 50 on all the retail liquor dealers in the Colony; and by the encroachment on the prerogatives of the Assembly, would amend the law so as to impose a perpetual quarterly tax of $15 62½ on eating houses.

The principle involved in this question is the chief thing that has called out hostile language in the Assembly. It is simply—has the Upper House a right to tax the people, or not? The Assembly takes the negative of the question; and from Mr. Waddington's speech we are told a Legislative Councilor takes the affirmative, and the action of the Council, by its amendment, does the same. It remains to be seen which body will back down from its position. Which ever way the imbrogio may end, there can be but one opinion among the public, and that opinion adverse to the Council. The Council is not a representative body. Shall we, then, suffer ourselves to be taxed without representation? "Representation and taxation go together," is a maxim as much a part and parcel of our constitution as Magna Charta; and if we allow a Governor and obsequious Council to invade the sacred principle it involves, we may soon bid good-bye to our rights—till regained, perhaps, at the expense of blood. Taxation without representation severed the old Colonies from the Mother Country. If attempted here, it may not cause a similar revolt; yet it may bring about such a combination as may rid the country of an irresponsible Council and an arbitrary Governor.

THE SPECULATIVE DAYS OF '58.—A suit has just been commenced in the Court of Chancery, which carries one's mind back to the speculative days of '58, when everybody that could rake together $50, purchased a town lot and imagined himself a millionaire in prospective. The plaintiffs in the suit are Moses Phillip, et al., and the defendant is David Green. The plaintiffs allege that they, with Green, were in business at Whatcom, W. T., early in '58; and hearing that immense "piles" were being realized by speculation in town-lots at Victoria, determined to try their luck in the same line. So what is called a "poney purse" (i. e., each man contributing a like amount), was made up, and Mr. Green deputized to visit Victoria, and see if he could not invest the amount to advantage in real estate. Mr. Green came over, staid a few weeks, and then returned to Whatcom with the "purse," which he returned to his partners, saying he could see no opportunity of speculating to advantage—lots were held high, etc. His partners took the money and all went on smoothly for a few months, when they ascertained that Mr. G. had actually purchased a lot on Government street, adjoining Bayley's Hotel, and also a 5-acre suburban lot. Suit was commenced a year and a-half ago, the plaintiffs alleging that it must have been with their money that the property was bought, as Green was in very indifferent circumstances at that time. The case will very likely be decided within a few days; and we believe enough money has been spent by the litigants, in lawyers' fees and court expenses, to buy the property in dispute, even at its present high valuation.

THE NEW GRADE.—The grade adopted by the Colonial Surveyor on Yates street, if persisted in, will bring the corner of Douglas and Yates streets four feet nine inches lower than at present; and nothing will remain for the property-holders but to put their houses on a level with the street. But what is still worse is the fact that the people have no assurance that the next Surveyor will not cut the grade still lower, or raise it even higher than at present. Besides, the Hudson Bay Company might at some future time require earth to fill up their water-front, and what is to prevent them cutting down Yates street in the same manner as they have cut down Wharf street? Were the grades established, now and forever, we have no doubt the expense of removing buildings, etc., would be cheerfully borne by the inhabitants; but as long as they are dependant upon the vagaries of surveyors, or the mercy of the Company, no wonder complaints are heard.

MR. LINDSAY'S MISSION.—The object of Mr. Lindsay's mission to Washington is to procure some modification of the American laws withholding participation in the coasting trade from British vessels. Mr. Lindsay is an eminent English ship-owner, and enjoys the fullest confidence of his Government. It is thought that this movement has a particular object in view—the opening of the California trade to British bottoms.

SLUNG SHOTTING.—Charles Cooper (colored) appeared before the Police Magistrate yesterday, to answer a charge of having stricken down William Irvine (also colored) with the knob of a door tied in a pocket handkerchief, and commonly called a slung-shot, a few evenings since. The complainant not appearing, the charge was "slung" out of court.

DEAD.—Capt. Denman, well-known in 1858 as a pioneer surveyor in this city, and subsequently as a Queen Charlotte Island explorer, died recently in San Francisco, whither he went last spring, in order to consult medical advice in regard to his failing health, which had become impaired while prospecting on the Northwest Coast.

THE CARIBOO DUST.—The gold from Cariboo assays 900 fine. It is by far the finest gold brought from British Columbia, and is equal to that found on Yuba river, California. It is worth $18 60 per ounce.

The steamer Otter left last evening at 5 o'clock, with freight and passengers for New Westminster.

News from the Sound.

The steamer Eliza Anderson arrived from the Sound last evening. We are indebted to Purser Lowell, for San Francisco, Oregon, and Sound papers. The dates from California have been superseded by the arrival of the D. L. Clinch, on Monday last.

DEPARTURE OF COL. BAKER.—Col. E. D. Baker and family left Portland on the Brother Jonathan, on Saturday, 13th inst., en route for Washington. The Republicans fired a salute of thirty-three guns in his honor.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—The wife of Rev. Mr. Huntington, a Methodist Preacher residing in Marion county, Oregon, was thrown from a buggy last week, and was so severely injured by the fall that she died in a few days. The accident happened in consequence of the horse running away.

COURT MARTIAL.—An U. S. Army court martial has been ordered to assemble at Fort Steilacoom.

VANDALISM.—Some scamp visited the orchard of Wm. Packwood, at Nisqually, destroyed sixty or seventy young fruit trees, and committed several other acts of vandalism.—Olympia Pioneer.

LIGHTNING.—The house of Mr. Ward, on Miami Prairie, near Olympia, was struck by lightning on Monday night of last week, the occupants stunned, and considerable damage done to the building.—Ibid.

ANOTHER MASSACRE OF INDIANS.—The Dalles Mountaineer is informed by two brothers named Keith, that a train of immigrants to which they belonged, were attacked by Bannock Indians, twenty-one days before, and eleven of their number killed. Relief was immediately sent to the survivors from the Umatilla Reservation.

THE MASSACRE BY THE SNAKES.—The number of whites killed by the Snake Indians, some time since, turn out to have been only ten, instead of forty-five, as before reported. Prompt measures have been taken for the punishment of the savages.

Additional News Items.

From our files of California papers received by the arrival of the schooner D. L. Clinch, we take the following additional items of news:

The diplomatic corps in general, and our State Department in particular, are jubilant over the disastrous failure of Walker's expedition, and of his capture and probable ignominious death. He has been the source of great annoyance to our government, and they feel greatly relieved that he has been thus suddenly checked in his mischievous career. Private advices from Honduras and Guatemala state that Walker's raid had caused intense excitement throughout the Central American States. If he persists in calling himself a citizen of Central America, of course nothing can save him from execution at the hands of his "adopted" countrymen; but if he begs protection of any naval officer, as an American citizen, they may save his neck again from the halter.—Wash. Cor. Eve. Bulletin.

Considerable excitement was caused in Brooklyn township, Cuyahoga county, Ohio, recently, by the sudden death of the heads of a family. An Englishman named Young, had some difficulty with his wife. His daughter saw him put something in the soup on the dinner table. She tasted the soup, but not liking it, left the table, and after drinking some water became sick and vomited. Her mother ate of the soup, was taken sick and died on the second day. Her father took something which made him sleep, and he lay in a state of stupefaction for two days. He finally roused up, and on being accused by one of his sons of having poisoned his mother, Young turned over upon his couch, and with a groan, immediately expired.

Shortly before the end of July such an immense swarm of locusts fell into the town of Odessa, that it was necessary to play fire engines upon the boulevards and town gardens to drive away the unwelcome intruders. No conception can be formed of the extent to which they occupy the flat land, and it was stated that 20,000 men were engaged in destroying them. The insects extended in their course to a length of 60 versts and a breadth of 20 versts, and were in so advanced a condition that they were furnished with wings.

According to the late accounts, the emancipation of the serfs—a question on which the Emperor feels a strong personal interest—is not to be so speedily accomplished as had been expected. Count Panin, to whom the care of that matter had latterly been entrusted, had given it as his opinion that it would not be possible to have it carried out so promptly as the Emperor could have desired, and he had recommended that a gradual process, which will occupy six years in its operation, should be adopted in preference to the more immediate plan which had been originally contemplated.

The trial of John Henry Price, on the charge of murder, for shooting James Cox, in Wilton, Saratoga county, on the 21st of August last, has resulted in his conviction of manslaughter in the fourth degree. This case has excited some interest because the principal parties were mere children. James Cox, whose life was sacrificed, being only eight years old, and Price, by whose hands he fell, eleven years old. It seems incredible that there could have been an intention to take life; and the testimony bears out the inference that the Price boy was more heedless and headstrong than wilfully criminal.

The Imperial Court of Paris lately sentenced a man named Profit to pay 1,600l. to the widow of a neighbor named Mulat, who had attempted to frighten him late at night in the disguise of a highwayman, by way of a joke, but met his death at the hands of the assaulted party. The court decided that when a man inflicts injury on another, whether from fear or any other cause, he is bound to make reparation.

Louis Napoleon has a great fondness for American horses, and the French embassy have just visited Boston to purchase five Vermont horses for the Imperial stables, which already boast of twenty-four from that country. The horses are all of the Emperor's favorite color, dark bay, 15 hands high, having a fine action, and trotting a mile in two minutes and fifty seconds. Their cost was between $2,000 and $3,000 a pair.

German journals state that there is every probability that the Emperor of Austria will shortly have another interview with an illustrious personage, and the Queen of Great Britain is named as the sovereign indicated.

The total sum—as appears from a Parliamentary paper just issued—paid into the English Exchequer, as the net produce of Ireland, in the year ending the 31st December, 1859, was £6,711,833.
